Breathitt County Teachers Institute.

The Breathitt County Teachers' Institute met at Jackson September 27th, pursuant to the order of the Commission, N. B. Day, who after meeting was called to order and the object explained by the Commissioner.

On motion of R. S. Landrum, J. W. Taubee was made permanent Secretary.

The following teachers came forward and had their names enrolled: D. H. Taubee, Mrs. Sarah Centers, J. W. Taubee, J. W. Hagins, T. M. Graham, G. P. McIntosh, J. T. Deaton, Dillard, Graham, Ezekiel Jett, James L. Chadwick, Miss Mary Haddix, J. D. Graham, Daniel McDaniell, S. P. Ashford, L. C. Bowling, G. W. Chapman, Rev. C. W. Johnson, L. C. Strong, Wm. Allen, Dr. J. L. Duff, J. L. Johnson, Miss M. A. McIntosh, J. B. Combs, T. A. Hudson, John Harvey, J. M. E. Davis, H. D. Hogg, B. M. Hagins, Wm. D. Back, S. H. Mann, Hiram Hagins, W. C. Taylor, J. P. Taubee, A. B. Short, William Haddix, D. S. Davis, Miss Sarah Lynch, J. P. Turner, Allen Davidson, Rev. J. A. Snavely, R. S. Landrum, A. C. Russell, Morrell Graham, Mrs. Nannie Caywood, J. J. C. Back, T. A. Hudson, Greenville Hensley.

On motion of J. W. Taubee, Rev. D. H. Hagins was made Chaplain.

The Commissioner then selected D. H. Hagins, J. W. Hagins, J. A. Snavely, R. S. Landrum and S. P. Ashford a committee on programme. The Institute then adjourned till 9 o'clock A. M. Tuesday.

TUESDAY FORENOON.

THURSDAY FORENOON.

Roll call by Secretary. Devotional exercises by Chaplain.

English Grammar by C. W. Johnson, assisted by J. L. Johnson.

U. S. History by J. A. Snavely, assisted by R. S. Landrum and T. M. Graham. General remarks.

Afternoon session—General remarks upon the subject "How to Teach," or "The Duties of the School Teacher," J. D. Graham, Rev. D. H. Hagins, J. A. Snavely, J. W. Hagins, T. M. Graham, Dr. J. L. Duff, Rev. C. W. Johnson and others being called for respondent in a very eloquent and appropriate manner.

One of the most pleasing incidents that occurred during the Institute was the voluntary pledge of R. S. Landrum to abstain in future from all intoxicating liquors. No declaration could have created greater applause. Mr. Landrum is a noble gentleman when sober and one of the best educators of the county. It is to be hoped that he will faithfully and truly keep his pledge through all his life.

The Institute was in every way an entire success.

The committee on resolutions adopted the following:

Resolved, 1st. That we, the teachers of Breathitt county, tender to N. B. Day, our Commissioner, our heartfelt thanks for the faithful manner in which he has presided over this Institute.

2nd. That our system of education is greatly improving and that we owe it to the earnest endeavors of our worthy Commissioner; that we have the right man in the right place, and the teachers with one voice would elevate him to that position again if it were a matter for them to decide.

3rd. That we tender our sincere thanks to our worthy Secretary, J. W. Taubee, for the able and scholarly manner in which he has discharged his duty.

4th. That we tender our thanks to the many visitors and people of Jackson and vicinity for their kind hospitality and good feelings expressed toward us.

A Roving Sentinel Scribe Takes a Trip into the Red River Valley and Tells Something of What He Saw and Heard.

One of those semi-annual convocations of the people known as Circuit Court was held at Stanton, Powell county, last week, which induced a SENTINEL scribe to visit that county and mix with the people. In company with Hon. Joseph Gardner the journey from Mt. Sterling was made by way of Jeffersonville and crossing Morris Mountain, over which is scarcely any road. The mountain is high, steep and rocky. We walked and led our horses and at the foot, in the valley, Mr. Gardner enquired of the SEXTON man: "do you now have any doubt about Napoleon crossing the Alps?"

"None at all" was the reply. Though neither of us had ever seen the Alpine mountains, yet it was unanimously agreed that, in our opinion, they could not be more difficult to cross than this mountain called "Morris." This route was taken because we were advised it was the shortest, but experience demonstrated that better time could be made by going a different route. Once in the valley of Red river the town of Stanton was soon reached and here on Monday a large number of the yeomanry assembled. That attempt to perpetrate a joke on his Honor, Judge Riddell, about his liver needing regulating at Frenchburg was taken for earnest by his good wife, for on inspecting the Judge's saddle bags a bottle of "regulator" was found, of which he had been induced to imbibe pretty freely before leaving home. At all events the Judge was on hand in his usual splendid humor and gave the grand jury a lecture, which he heeded, would accomplish much toward ridding the community of lawlessness and the establishment of peace and prosperity.

Hon. Henderson Conlee was appointed foreman of the grand jury. The Circuit Clerk, Mr. S. D. Hall, reported $11 65; County Clerk, Judge B. Boone, $72, and Justices $28 20. On the docket were 20 common law, 77 equity and 38 Commonwealth cases. The Attorney for the Commonwealth, Hon. C. R. Brooks, was present; the local attorneys, Judge Jas. H. Scholl, H. T. Derickson, W. M. Walters and Palestine Ashill, also attorneys from other counties as follows: Col. H. C. Lilly, Maj. J. N. Cardwell, Judge Robt. Fluty and Hon. J. B. White, of Irvine; Hon. B. F. Day, Frenchburg; Hon. J. W. Kendall, West Liberty; Judge B. J. Peters, Cois. W. H. Holl and A. T. Wood, Mt. Sterling. The Clerk was aided by Dr. N. M. Rice and Mr. N. D. Merrill, the former Clerk. The efficient Sheriff, H. G. Walters, was assisted by Mr. Masterson, as deputy at that time and thanks are due, all the same.

No newspaper man or stranger is permitted to visit Powell county without being "taken in" by H. Tom Derickson, the clever and popular attorney. His hatch string always hangs out and at his comfortable country home, he and his wife dispense a genuine old fashioned Kentucky hospitality; so genuine and earnest that the recollection of it can never fade from the memory. A night spent with his family was exceedingly pleasant and for his kindness and assistance the scribe is under many obligations. His little five-year-old boy, Bob, a pupil of Miss Emma Dishong, who teaches in that neighborhood, says he is studying law, geography, grammar and A, B, & C. He thinks Miss Emma is an exceedingly lovely little lady. The Powell court of claims held recently allowed claims to the amount of about $12,000. The County Judge and Attorney were allowed the sum of $100 each, but believing that not enough for their services, will appeal to the Circuit Court and ask for a greater allowance. Capt. Syd Pittman was mixing among his old friends. Mr. J. W. Holden, the popular and industrious solicitor for the Democrat, was there in the interest of his paper. The loveliness of the scenery of the forest and mountains seen on the trip is an inviting theme, but space forbids the mention. Would you enjoy a feast delicious to the eye, and enjoy rest from a tiring day, go up to the mountains in October and gaze upon their loveliness. The contrast between such a judicious and sweet repose and the work in town with the eternal din of political talk and election news is too great. The latter cases the head to ache and the arms but a well developed body and as fine a head and face as ever sat gracefully on human shoulders. He is two and a half feet high, weighs 55 pounds, and is 15 years old. He is a Good Templar of the purest moral character, a brain of high intellectual order and a mind clear and comprehensive with an inventive genius capable of revolutionizing the scientific world some time in the near future. He is a close student, filling his mind with knowledge and possessing a judgment to guide "it" for a good purpose with a memory remarkable for retaining everything he sees, hears and learns. He moves about without assistance, can feed himself and writes a bold, fair hand. He has been vigorously investigating the possibility of perpetual motion, and also the philosophy of the navigation of the air, and says he now has an invention of the "aerial arid" that will transport human freight through the etheral deep with the rapidity and safety of the eagle's flight. In fact he can carve and make of wood anything to please his curiosity, entertaining the children with his curiosities and developing a power of mechanism that is wonderful to behold. We had a long and pleasant interview with Bro. Blair and feel confident his success in life will be one that will justify the belief in honoring itself by taking his name.

shoes is carried on here pretty extensively by a gentleman residing in the curious cognomen of Nambimba Holmes. The Combs House, kept by the popular landlord, W. M. Combs, was full of guests and the table supplied with all the good things of the season, while in the splendidly arranged stable the horses were carefully attended to. Beside the Combs House Mr. J. B. Blackburn and Mrs. Shultz entertain guests. Mr. W. M. Walters, a young attorney, has been elected County Attorney, and though a resident only about a year, he has made hosts of friends and is getting a good practice. Our young friend, Richard Thomas, of Paris, was here attending court and very much disappointed because he did not get a case disposed of in which he had a personal interest. He will come again next court. Bob Hord, of Breathitt county, lately of Grayson, Ky., was nosing around after something, which he would not tell a newspaper man. Dick Forman, of Mt. Sterling, spent a week visiting friends in the county, and when he left sang "The Girl I Left Behind Me." Dr. John W. Groves and Charlie Russell, of Estill, attended court. J. Davis Reid, of this county, was on hand the first day of court and never stated his business, but some of the people suspected he was looking after his prospects as a candidate for Representative, which will be favorably considered by quite a number of Powell county citizens. The Levee plow maker, V. Cook Hainline, was taking orders for his famous plows. He will in a short

The Democrats lost the State of Indiana last week and Ohio went Republican by an increased majority, and now it seems to be in order for everybody to explain why.

To our mind it was simply a question of money and management, not of principle. For over a year past the Republicans have been importing negroes from other States and they coupled with an immense corruption fund, which could not be overcome by the Democrats, did the work. A large portion (he said to the eternal disgrace of an American freeman) of the voters of every State are purchasable, and the Republicans having the machinery of government and the Treasury at command could control more power and more money than the Democrats.

We are unwilling to concede that the majority of the people of the United States favor the corruption and extravagance of Republican rule or that they are willing to swing loose from the time honored principles on which this government was founded and when all the votes are counted after the November election it will demonstrate that the voice of the country condemns the wrongs and frauds of the Republican party and are especially against the tendency to centralization of power in the Federal Government, which is advocated by that party. If, however, the verdict of the country is against the Democratic platform, we will submit with all possible grace, for a minority can surely stand if a majority can and we believe in the doctrine that a majority shall rule.

We are not yet without hope that Hancock will be elected, though we believe that the loss of Indiana lessens our chances. Our advice is, do not give up, but work hard until the polls are closed, and if we have to go down, fall like brave men, with faces to the foe.

GARDNER-HURST.

It was our intention to have presented some of the points made in the discussion between the District Electors, but having mislaid our notes, we will not venture to give them from recollection, but instead print what our Salisbury correspondent says of their speeches at that place, which, as it goes is substantially the points made here and at Stanton:

"Mr. Gardner led off in a speech of an hour and a quarter. He first answered the lobby of the Republican orators that the Democratic platform set forth no principles. He read from the Democratic platform of 1876 and 1880 and showed conclusively that the principles of 1880 are the same as those enunciated by Jefferson in 1800. He showed that all our splendid western territory had been acquired by Democratic administration, and not only this it had elung all along to Republican principles, while the Republican party were constantly under various pretexts making roads upon our free institutions. He quoted from Gen. Grant when he said several years ago, after his Southern tour, that the "South was ready to be received back into the Union," nevertheless the Republicans are yet howling about the disloyalty of the South. He showed up the machinery for manufacturing negro votes in the South and what a hideous howl it raised in the Radical camp when the negroes were freed and the recoil came, giving to the Democrats the electoral votes of the South. He next made an onslaught upon the election frauds in the South, introducing Republicans high in authority as witnesses. For instance, Mr. Hoar, who said in his report on the Louisiana elections of 1874 that nearly all the State officers held power arbitrarily and without warrant of law; and Stanley Matthews, who declared that the State in 1876 had gone 7,000 for the Tilden electors; that Florida had been given to the Tilden electors by both the Legislature and the highest Court of the State, had been counted for Hayes. He said that the anger of the people at these palpable outrages was plainly visible in the fall, first of Grant, then Sherman and Blaine at Chicago before the outraged sentiments of the people, and that lastly James A. Garfield, for his shameful part on the memorable Commission, where he played the double function of both witness and juror, would go down like Lucifer, in November, never to rise again. He said that his opponent had charged that "Hancock had no civil record." Mr. Gardner said that it would be better for Garfield if he had none; that had this been the case the miserable spectacle of a party introducing a man for the Presidency whom they had for years since charged and proven guilty of bribery and perjury, the worst things in the catalogue of crimes, that Hancock's order No. 40 and his letters furnished the evidence of the highest civil capacity; that they had the ring which characterized the utterances of the fathers, and that he was acceptable to the Democracy because they wanted union and harmony restored. He then went for Hayes in the liveliest manner and without gloves for rewarding the thieves who stole the Presidency and arrayed such an amount of circumstantial evidence, all pointing to the fact of bribery, that no sober mind could doubt.

Time of this that we should follow him further.

Mr. Hurst then took the stand and began by saying that the Democrats had merged their principles in those of the Republican party. That saving their States rights doctrine and a few others of minor importance, that there were no differences. Thought that the territory added by Democratic administrations was very small compared with their efforts to destroy the Union. He said the Republican party had been very magnanimous towards the South; that it had been the custom among all civilized nations that the conquered should pay the expenses of the war, but in this instance the victor only required the South to pay her proportional share which was very small. That the solid North, which he assumed to be the Republican party, had paid about two-thirds of the war debt, while the solid South, or the Democratic party, had only paid about one-third of the debt. He then went off upon the subject of finance, which he claimed to be the financial and healthiest condition possible. That resumption was successfully accomplished, though it met with nothing but opposition from the Democracy. He admitted that the Democratic House saved forty millions the first year of its ascendancy, but that it starved the Government to do so, and that in the succeeding years the expenses were larger than ever before. He strongly advocated the National Bank system and censured General Jackson for fighting them so persistently, though he thought probably Jackson was a very good old man. He thought a National Bank was good, because there was no danger of its ever breaking. In answer to the charge of the great debts added upon the Southern States by the carpet-bag officials he thought they would not amount to much of a grievance, as those States had nearly all gone into the repudiation business and that if the Democrats got control of the Government the national debt would likewise be repudiated. He then alluded to affairs in Kentucky as a sample of Democratic rule. When the war had left us with over a million dollars in the Treasury and which had found and some of it had been appropriated for the purpose of building a monument over the grave of John C. Breckinridge. Upon the whole we thought his speech was of ordinary Republican dimensions.

Mr. Gardner showed by the Auditor's report and Governor's message that at the close of the war the State of Kentucky was in debt nearly five millions of dollars, all of which had been paid under Democratic administrations and the State was now out of debt.

See that your neighbors go to the polls and vote for Turner.

Next Friday is the last day for suing in our November Circuit Court, which will be the commencement of Judge Buchanan's term of office.

This is to be a lively week here—two weddings, two theatrical troupes, Barnes meeting, besides something else may turn up. Let us have peace.

Mrs. Wallums, mother-in-law of W. L. Tanner, of this county, died Sunday. Her remains were taken to Midway, where she lived, Monday for interment.

Rev. Geo. O. Barnes and daughter are still at work here. Sunday there were 20 additions. The gentleman uses "infernal liar" as any old sinner on the streets. I don't like it, but I don't know what I am going to do about it. He seems to be doing a good work in a peculiar rattling loose way.

Senatorial candidates are beginning to pop. R. H. Brewster and Rodney Hagard are both being urged for the candidacy, but I prophesy there will be no contest in this county as to who shall be our county's candidate. We propose to offer a man who will suit us and hope he will suit the other counties. E.

Mat Maury is visiting in town.

Little Annie Conner has the scarlet fever.

Mr. Mat Gossett has gone to Missouri to see relatives.

L. A. Goodpastor made a flying visit to Lexington.

Dr. J. T. Catlett has taken possession of his new home.

Thos. Peters and family have moved to Richmond, Ky.

Mrs. Annie Boyd has an elegant assortment of millinery.

Mrs. Alice Perry and Mrs. Lou Frattman have gone to Covington on a visit.

Jas. Ficklin has rented a portion of Henry Scott's dwelling, where he expects to remain until he gets his business settled.

Miss Lucy Ragland has been in town a week. She left Mr. Sterling Saturday at which place she will remain all winter.

The people have not forgotten that the Legislature last winter cost the State many thousands of dollars by its dilatory motions and long speeches, in which he vented his spleen against Gov. Blackburn and Col. Smith, hence they will punish him in November.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

HEAD OF BRUSH CREEK.

Albin Berkley is lying very ill at his father's, H. C. Berkley.

Our community is still honored with visitors from a distance.

Jas. Shouse and Joe Barnes, of Franklin county, spent a few days with us last week.

Clark Williams, of Grant county, is visiting J. H. Oldham and other relatives.

H. C. Parrish left Monday to attend the meeting of the Grand Lodge at Louisville.

Mrs. Spitzer, wife of Rev. Jacob Ditzler, spent a part of last week visiting in this neighborhood.

Wm. A. Cockrell in digging his small crop of sweet potatoes found one which weighed five pounds.

Jas. D. Tipton has rebuilt from its foundation the chimney damaged by lightning last spring.

Green Kennedy and wife, of Fayette county, are visiting Jas. Kennedy at Mrs. Sarah Sappington's.

Dave McCarthy, wife and daughter, of Franklin county, are at present visiting guests of Wm. Shouse.

Sam Tipton is still suffering severely with carbuncles. Mrs. Sallie Oldham quite sick at M. W. Anderson's.

One of the belles of Brush creek is to wed next Thursday—can't call names. Will tell you all about it next week.

While hauling wood from the mountains last week, Jas. Smith was thrown from his wagon and received several painful cuts and bruises.

Last Monday was a gala day at the hospitable house of Milton McClure. Three sisters, Mrs. Jack McClure, Mrs. Wesley Ocar and Mrs. Katie Smith, who had not spent a day together in about fifteen years. Several other ladies were present who had known each other in "younger days" and visited the parents of "nine hot" and the pleasure of the day can only be imagined by those who have tested the hospitality of the amiable host and hostess and their fair daughters. ROVER.

PIKE COUNTY.

PIKEVILLE.

The Democrats of this end of our district are alive to the interest of themselves and country.

A great many in town last week. Court in session—men here from all parts of the county and in a way that insures a full vote. Business brisk in court. We have a three weeks' session here. The whole talk among our good men is that we are for the Hon. Thos. Turner for Congress, for Hancock and English electors; that now is the time to save the country from ruin. Rah boys, rah for the good old Democratic party, founded upon principles of liberty and self protection. The glorious news from Maine makes good Democratic hearts beat. The county of Floyd is so well so called is found leaping with joy over the result in Maine and say rah for Turner and the old Democratic flag. They are valiant soldiers in the Democratic army and will roll up a majority over any Republican candidate for Congress, 700 for Turner. Old Pike can and will give him 600 to 700 over their best. We think the Sandy Valley does not propose to be beat. Hon. Thos. Turner was with us Friday and he was with the usual smile on his face and with that flow of never ending speech which all good Democrats like to hear. MANY DEMOCRATS.

LEE COUNTY.

SHANTY BRANCH.

The girls in Gray's Bend are very pretty.

W. C. Lutes and wife are visiting James L. Lute.

Little sewing and cow swapping is progressing on the Branch.

Your subscribers in this part are well pleased with the SENTINEL.

The Rev. John Culyer will preach at the Cable school-house next Sunday.

Robert Marshall, of Gray's Bend, is going to Madison to lead in Short-horn.

S. P. Hill has purchased a new sewing machine, which gives entire satisfaction.

Jas. B. Benton and wife, of Estill county, are visiting relatives on Walkers creek.

It is supposed by most of the neighborhood that the time is set for the reunion of the widow Kincaid and Phillip Williams.

Katharine Wiler and J. G. Spencer are progressing finely with their wooden sorghum mill and evaporator, making silver drip.

The citizens of this place can boast of their three country lawyers: M. Levi Stamper, B. D. Core and John D. Jameson are said to be the best that ever pleaded at the bar of W. D. Arnold, Esq.

POWELL COUNTY.

STANTON.

I went fishing last week and caught five bass; weight 8 pounds.

Judge J. R. Hardwick has returned home from St. Louis, where he went to meet his wife on her return from an extended trip to Missouri.

Farmers are generally doing cutting corn and sowing wheat. There is a large acreage of wheat sown in this county this fall than I ever knew before.

Circuit Court closed 15th inst. Our grand jury adjourned on the 14th inst., after finding five indictments. That speaks well for order and sobriety in our county.

Our merchants, J. R. Hardwick and J. B. Blackburn, both appear to be doing a good business. Blackburn told me he sold several hundred dollars worth of goods last week. They both have a full stock of goods.

RED RIVER.

On the 4th inst. Court of Claims met in Stanton. Claims against the county nearly $1,000, about $800 less than last year. County levy and ad valorem tax was put at what it was last year, which will bring a revenue of about $1,000. A great many tax payers of the county are dissatisfied and are heaping maledictions on the heads of our Solons of the court.

On Monday, 11th inst., Circuit Court convened. There was but little business in fact there was but little to do. Take our court all in all it was an agreeable one. No knockdowns on the streets nor drunkenness was seen. I believe there was but one man drunk, and he came from Estill county. We cannot close this article without complimenting the proprietor of the SENTINEL, who paid us his first visit this court. May he live long and his shadow never grow less, is our sincere desire. POWELL.

Our Salisbury correspondent asks who is William Conlee, of Mt. Sterling? He is a very clever man, but has got a little "off" in politics. We learn he is not for Garfield and will probably "winter" his vote.

Monday the Superintendent and salesmen of the Southern Calendar Clock Company took their departure for Nashville, Tennessee, after a residence here of seven months. They came to us strangers, but left us friends. During their stay they sold in this territory 700 clocks at $38 each, amounting to the sum of $26,600, which is evidence of the good qualities of that excellent timepiece. They leave 700 of their beautiful "Fashion" clocks as testimonials of their uniform courtesy and of their promptness to fulfill their business engagements. Every employee proved himself a perfect gentleman. All sober, quiet, genial, good men. All bills were paid at the time promised. They expressed themselves well pleased with all the people in this section and regretted to leave. Of Mr. N. B. Dozier, the gentlemanly Superintendent, too much can not be said, for he proved to be a first class man in respect, and he leaves here bearing with him the hearty good wishes of a host of warm friends. One of the "Fashion" in the SENTINEL office will remain a constant reminder of the kindness and generosity of Mr. Dozier and also of the splendid gentleman, Col. L. L. Culver, Secretary of the Company. A large share of the success in selling is due to liberal advertising, which is a hint to other business men to go and do likewise.

On Monday Major A. E. Richards, Col. A. M. Swope and Hon. W. B. Fleming made speeches at the Court-house. They are able men and their speeches were complimented by every body. We have not space to make any comments. Major Richards left yesterday to fill his appointments in the mountains, accompanied by Col. Holt, who will reply to him.

Negro women from this State voted in Indiana and Ohio at the election last week. They were dressed in men's clothing. It was such a good joke they had to tell when they returned. The Republican party is, indeed, a great party.

Colonel Turner represents the party of reform, internal improvements and progress, while Hon. John D. White is the representative of the party which favors frauds, corruption and official spoils. Choose ye, who shall assist in making our laws.

Our friend Claude Buckley, late of the Frankfort Roundabout, has purchased the Anderson News of G. A. Holland. Mr. Buckley is an expert newspaper journalist and gets up a new paper.

Gen. John S. Williams has been in Southern Kentucky the past two weeks making campaign speeches. The papers in that section speak highly of his efforts.

The Republicans of this county celebrated last Saturday night. Anvil shooting, fire works, bonfires and a speech by Col. A. T. Wood constituted the programme.

The Democracy of Powell may be relied on to give the usual majority for Colonel Turner and the Democratic electors.

STRAWS SHOW WHICH WAY THE WIND BLOWS.

Without wishing to employ the exaggerating terms used in many advertisements to such an extent that the reader is unable to tell which one to believe, we simply desire to point to the fact that at the late Fair held in Lexington we were awarded the premium for the Finest and Best Display of Clothing for Men, Boys and Children. This is an index to the class of goods we keep. We desire only to add, and we think we are justified in doing so, that our stock of Overcoats, Suits, Dress and Business suits—of our Clothing and Furnishings that the goods are selected and custom-made. In Hosiery, Gloves and Underwear we offer the finest and greatest varieties.

The new Millinery Goods of Mrs. Calk & Co. will be on exhibition to-morrow, and they extend an invitation to all those who have eyes for the beautiful to give them a call and inspect their goods before buying.

Persons indebted to B. W. Rose & Co. will please call on B. W. Rose and pay up, as the firm's business must be closed at once.

Respectfully, B. W. Rose & Co.

Local Affairs.

N. H. Trimble, the grocer, has a new sign.

The best and cheapest overcoats at A. Broth's.

Captain Coleman is having the office at the hotel fixed up in style.

Races at Cynthiana commenced yesterday and continues until Friday.

Mr. Haggard succeeds Givens as toll gate keeper on the Winchester pike.

We blush to say it, but drunken men were numerous on our streets Monday.

Don't subscribe for Magazines or papers until you know the prices we can offer.

Waller Sharp, of Sharpburg, has sold his grocery establishment to J. W. Elgin & Co.

Alfred Huff, the young man who was shot last Saturday night week, is able to go about again.

Councilman, P. McNamara, bought last week of T. J. Megibbin & Co., 31 barrels of whisky made in 1877.

Capt. J. Syd. Pittman, at Cross Roads, Rowan county, is authorized to receive subscriptions for the SENTINEL.

The diphtheria is prevailing to an alarming extent in the neighborhood of Howard's Mill, several cases proving fatal.

The only chance to get a good suit of cloth, cheaper than elsewhere, is at A. Broth's, at the Globe Clothing Store, Mt. Sterling, Ky.

A Hoffman's Agency insured ten tobacco barns and $10,000 worth of tobacco for H. P. Thomson, at Thomson Station, Clark county, last Wednesday.

A curiosity is on exhibition at J. Klase's clothing store. It is a metal man which struts across the floor as natural as a real man. No charges to see it.

Joe Barnes, the handsome young clerk in John Jones' jewelry store, was the recipient of a lovely bouquet last Friday, and his face has been wreathed in smiles ever since.

Clubbing arrangements have been made with the leading periodicals and daily and weekly papers and we can offer you cheap reading. Address or call at this office.

Sam. C. Graves will deliver a lecture on temperance at Sharpburg next Saturday afternoon. Sam. is a good speaker and we advise our friends to turn out and hear him.

The very handsome new pews being placed in the Episcopal church, in this city, are of walnut and will add much to the beauty of that structure, to say nothing of the comfort of the audience.

Work on the Big Sandy is being pushed with great energy all along the line. It needs only the gap from this place to Rush to be filled and then we can go "on to Richmond" and the sea board.

Any disease of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs, Nervous System, or case of Lame Back, that cannot be cured by Day's Kidney Pad, cannot be cured by any other treatment or remedy in existence.

Sunday morning Deputy Marshal Hall arrested Elmo Donald and George Hartley, colored, for house-breaking. They were tried before Judge McKee Monday morning and Elmo fined $25 and George $17.

The article in this paper "New England and Kentucky" is from the pen of Judge W. M. Beckner, editor of the Clark County Democrat. We invite the careful perusal and trust young Kentuckians will profit by it.

Miss Bessie Fisk died at her home in Covington on Sunday, Oct. 10th, after an illness of three weeks of diphtheria. Miss Bessie visited this place last summer, and her friends here will be shocked to hear of her death.

The ladies connected with the Public Library will, in a few weeks, give an entertainment and supper for the benefit of the Library, which promises to be one of the best ever produced here, of which due announcement will be made.

Pay up old subscription and $2 and the SENTINEL will be sent until January 1st, 1882.

The figures $329 were chalked in various parts of the town one night last week and it is astonishing how ignorant some Republicans are as to their meaning. That was the price Oakes Ames paid Garfield as dividends in Credit Mobilier stock.

A. B. Stamper and J. H. Gibbs arrived here last Thursday from Texas where they have been the past four months, and went on home to Morgan county. They have both had fever and are still sick. They are thoroughly disgusted with their trip.

Why don't our coal dealers keep Mt. Sterling coal? It will break everybody to have to burn high-priced coal at this time of year.—Winchester Sun.

How do they know that coal can be had, seeing that our dealers do not advertise?

The right to sell Lenox's Portable Fence in this county was sold to H. T. Osborne, of Clark county. The owner of the patent, our friend Will H. Clay, of Lexington, says he has sold all this State except Bath, and that he has made money. We were glad to meet him and rejoice in his success.

Notice.

On the 11th inst. I gave to John Arnold a check for $100 on the Mt. Sterling National Bank for a mare which proved to be unsound, and this is to warn all persons not to trade for said check, as I will not pay it.

G. W. KEMPER.

Willie, son of Dr. E. B. Richardson, was thrown from a horse Monday morning near the residence of A. T. Wood, falling on a pile of rocks. Several deep lacerations were made in his head, and his hands were considerably cut and bruised. His wounds are painful, but not dangerous.

A splendid new and very beautiful drop curtain, representing a scene in Venice, together with a number of elegant sliding scenes, have been put in the Masonic Hall in this city. The Hall has been greatly improved under the management of Lewis Apperson, Esq., and is quite popular as a place in which to give public entertainments.

A few nights since a colored man named Connor Greene, was taken from the house of another colored man named Thomas, who lives on Mason's place, in this county, by six men whose faces were covered with rags and whipped severely. No cause was assigned for the act. Greene is said to be a quiet man and not guilty of any known crimes.

The Sterling Hunting Club, consisting of seven of our excellent fellow-citizens, viz Messrs. I. E. Calk, R. F. Wyatt, S. S. Elmer, John P. Elmer, R. L. Williams, Alex. and James Soole, leave to-day for their camp on Slate on a hunting and fishing excursion. We have no doubt they will have a good time and we wish them abundant success.

An invitation, cordial, earnest and consistent, is extended by our advertisers to make your purchases of them. We also urge you to accept it. Never go where you are not invited. It is impolite to do so. Tradespeople who do not advertise say by their action that they do not want custom. Please be so kind as to mention you saw the advertisement in the Sentinel.

The report has been pretty widely circulated that Marshal Punch, who went to Indiana and was there during the election, had been arrested as a "repeater," all of which was false. Capt. Punch went there to receive fraudulent votes from being cast. He returned last Friday night and is all right except that he feels much dejected over the result in Indiana.

The Agnes Wallace-Villa Combination on Monday night played "After Years," concluding with "Cinderella," at Bristol Hall, and greatly delighted the audience. Last night as we went to press "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was rendered. Every one in the troupe performed his or her part well and all the good things said by the press of this company are not exaggerations.

Dr. G. W. Moffett leaves to-morrow to take up his residence at Tipton, Indiana. He is a young man of good morals and excellent manners and has proven to be an expert in his profession. We commend him to the people of Tipton and wish him success in his new location.

The fact that the motto of the Murphys, "Malice toward none, and charity for all," with the cabalistic letters "N. C. T. U." means "National Christian Temperance Union," but Charley A. Turner affirmed me "Nearest Cut to Utah."

The wide awake cashier of the Exchange Bank, W. W. Thompson, Esq., says that the business of the Bank is rapidly increasing and at the same ratio its business next year will be double that of any former year. Part of which no doubt is due to the energy of the cashier, but this hard work seems to be telling upon the health of that excellent citizen and we venture to advise him to be more careful of himself. We think "Labors" is a sober, industrious, and deserving young man, and we hope he may strike it rich.

Miss Mary Tandy, of Ghent, Ky., who has been visiting in this county for some time, returned to her home last Wednesday. We are inclined to think the current mood than one heart with her, and somebody is sad.

Mr. Wm. Howard Yeff, of Cincinnati, was in the city yesterday enroute to the Olymian Spring to spend a few days. He is a prominent citizen of Ohio and well known to hardware dealers in Kentucky. He is accompanied by his daughter Miss Lucy.

One of our young M. D.'s went to Louisville last Thursday with three young ladies to see the sights, and when the train stopped at the retail store, the lady, the wife of M. D. got off for something and the train came on without him. For further particulars call on Dr. J. F. Jones.

The many friends of R. W. Harwood, traveling salesman for Minor & Dixon, wholesale grocers, of Cincinnati, are glad to see him again, after a three month absence. He is still very feeble and will probably remain in our city until the first of January, when he will take to the road again.

Prof. Charles Schaeffer, of Mt. Sterling, is in the city, looking well and as genial as ever. Once a resident of Frankfort, and always popular with our people, it is gratifying to receive the cordial welcome which has greeted him. Charley is a master of music, and as an instructor on the piano is not called in the State.—Cyanan.

Delegates attending the Masonic Grand Lodge at Louisville from this city, viz: Dr. L. C. Jeffries, Aaron R. H. C. Parrish, Camargo, J. W. Boyd, E. C. Ovington, S. M. Spaulding, Camargo, accompanied by wife, J. C. Lykins, Zeoli, Alamo Atkinson, Silverville, J. C. Ovington, Frenchburg, and W. A. Maxey, West Liberty, accompanied by wife.

The Owen county Fair was attended with better success than ever before, says the News.

Mr. John H. Mark and two daughters, Misses Belle and Malie, and Miss Bessie Combs, of Sideview, leave for Missouri next week to spend the winter. A party was given them on Monday night at Mrs. John McClure's, and a considerable crowd of friends gathered to bid them good-bye, and a very pleasant time was had. A SENTINEL scribe was present, who, with a host of other warm friends, wishes them a pleasant visit to the west and a safe return to their "Old Kentucky Home."

The Globe Clothing Store in this city is now owned by Mr. A. Broth and the mantle of B. W. Rose, Esq., has fallen on worthy shoulders. This gentleman has for a long time had an interest in the house, and as he is sole proprietor now he will give all his attention to it. He has resided in Cynthiana several years and comes here well recommended as a good business man and worthy citizen. His store is filled with the best goods that can be had in the market and are sold on close margin. He does not propose to charge more than an article is worth. He has declared war against high prices and asks the SENTINEL readers to give him a call. We advise you to give him a trial.

A man by the name of W. D. Pedrague registered at the Reese House Thursday, and that night Deputy Marshal George French received a dispatch from J. W. Topping, at Morehead, a contractor on the Big Sandy, stating that Pedrague had recently shot a man by the name of Hale and that he (Topping) was on his bond for five hundred dollars for his appearance.

Pedrague was attempting to run off and not stand his trial, and ordered the Marshal to arrest him. Marshals French and Hall watched the train Friday morning and arrested the fugitive. Topping and Sheriff Wyatt, of Rowan, came in Friday night after the prisoner, but Major Tabler agreed to be responsible for his appearance at the next session, and released and allowed to go his way in peace.

Matrimonial.

WOODFORD.—BUSH.—In Winchester, October 19, 1880, Henry W. Woodford, of this city, and Lella Bush, of Clark county, were united in holy matrimony by Rev. Mr. Woodford. The bride is a popular young woman, and her bride a lovely and accomplished lady, whom we gladly welcome to our city. We wish them all the happiness allotted to mortals in this life.

AMYN.—DAY.—At the DuPont House, Camp Springs, Ky., October 15, 1880, by Elder Morrison Nickel, Mr. Thomas J. Aynx and Miss Alice Joe Day. We tender our congratulations. The groom is a popular young man, and the bride is a lovely and accomplished lady, whom we gladly welcome to our city. We wish them all the happiness allotted to mortals in this life.

Some think the noblest act of life, Consists in marrying a wife; But give me liberty, I pray, And life will be just one joy Day.

Tom, we charge you to faithfully guard the precious treasure committed to your keeping. Lieutenant-Governor James E. Cantrell, of Georgetown, was married last Wednesday to Miss Mary L. daughter of Mr. James G. Cantrell, of Danville, by Elder John Aug. Williams. The bride was a popular young woman.

RAMEY.—COONS.—In Bath county, Oct. 12, 1880, by Elder Bela Metcalfe, Martin Ramey, of this county, and Miss Mary Coon, of Bath county.

RAMEY.—VICE.—In Bath county, Oct. 12, 1880, by Rev. W. H. H. Ditzler, Sanford Ramey, of this county, to Miss Fannie Vice, of Bath county.

Henry C. Kehoe, foreman of the Carlisle Mercury office, was married on the 7th to Miss Jennie Loadenback.

CHENAULT.—SUNDAY.—Oct. 10th, to the love of Rev. Mr. Ditzler, daughter Virginia Love; weight 100 lbs.

PIELPS.—In Bath county, Oct. 10th, to the love of Frank Phelps, a son—William.

MANFIELD.—Near Howard's Mill, Saturday, Oct. 10th, of diphtheria, six-year-old daughter of Henry Manfield.

SEE.—At Howard's Mill, Oct. 17th, Little M., daughter of Jacob and Clara See, aged 7 years.

WILSON.—At the residence of her husband, at Blackwater, Morgan county, on the 8th inst., Mrs. Rebecca Wilson, wife of Rev. Mr. Wilson.

Her illness was of short duration, supposed to be congestion of the lungs.

Land, Stock and Crops.

Irish potatoes are selling at 40 cents per bushel in Lexington.

J. S. Wills sold to L. Keith 33 head of shoats averaging 80 lbs., at 32 cents per lb.

G. W. Kemper, of this county, will sell his stock and crop Thursday, Oct. 25th. See bills.

S. S. Combs, of Campton, sold last Monday 6 head of mountain cattle at 23 cents per lb.

Fred Williams on last Saturday sold to Joe Wilkerson 55 mountain wethers at $2 75 per head.

A car load of horses were shipped from this place last Thursday by J. G. Trimble to Atlanta, Ga.

R. G. Salyer sold to W. H. Previtt 6 head of 2-year-old steers averaging 1,080 lbs., at $3 60 per cwt.

S. M. Spradling, of Campton, sold on court day one heifer, one cow and one young roan horse at $87 50.

80 acres of corn for sale in the field. Lots of wheat to feed in and plenty of water. Jewell & Thomas, Jr., North Middletown, Ky.

We saw yesterday in the garden of J. G. Trimble, of this city, a volunteer of the Civil War, which measured 233 feet in length.

Col. M. Mullins, representing a tobacco house in Cincinnati, was here last week enquiring about the tobacco crop in the county.

John W. Highland bought for D. Highland, in Fleming county, 8 nice 2-year-old cattle averaging 1,120 lbs., at $3 50 per head.

John A. Berry, of Sharpburg, shipped to Pittsburgh 40 heifers, one cow and one young roan horse at $87 50.

Thos. Calk, Sr., will sell at public auction at his farm, 2 miles from the city, two tracts of land containing 70 and 85 acres, also some feeding cattle, milk cows, calves, hogs, &c., on the 4th day of November. See bills.

At Obe Dooley's sale last Wednesday fall prices were realized for everything sold. The day was lovely and the present crowd of ladies and gentlemen present indicated the willingness of people to invest. Col. R. E. Edmonson, of Winchester, was the auctioneer, and never did a man work harder to secure large prices for stock. 30 head of cattle averaged about 1,100 lbs., were knocked off to Mr. Kahn at $4 30 per cwt. Other cattle ranged from 2 to 3 1/2 cents per lb.; lambs $5 30 per head; ewes $7; wethers $4; horses $72 to $85, one saddle mare bought by J. W. Cleveland, Esq., for $40 to $50; corn $2 per barrel; hay sold at about 60 cents per cwt. For the farm of Jabez Dooley S. H. Gaitskill, of Clark, bid $72 per acre, but Mr. Dooley refused to take that price. Hence no sale. Grass on the farm will be rented or stock grazed and the farm is still for sale.

COURT DAY.—The crowd in town Monday was simply crushing and more than the usual business transacted. Not less than 500 cattle on the market, and the quality was better than usual. Nearly all sold, but buyers seemed to be cautious and prices were less than dealers expected to realize. Best grade cattle sold from $3 60 to $4 per cwt; mountain cattle brought from 23 to 3 cents per lb.; oxen from $65 to $115 per yoke. One lot of grade 2-year-olds, average about 1,100 lbs., sold at $2 50 per cwt. A lot of 23 young yearlings sold at $2 50 per cwt. Milch cows from $20 to $35. An unusual number of horses on the market, estimated at 150 head. The difference between sellers and buyers was so great that not over 30 head were sold. Day & Weedon, of Fleming, bought at Trimble & Keel's stable a car load at an average cost of $80 per head, which they shipped to Cincinnati yesterday. All sales of horses were considered low prices. Only about 25 mules on the market, very few of which were sold, and prices were $15 to $20 per head. The head of last court. R. M. Harwell, of Powell, sold a pair of 3-year-old mules, 143 hands high for $220, and John A. Thompson bought 3 2-year-olds at $70 per head. No sheep or hogs on market. The neighboring counties sent heavy delegations of dealers and buyers, and it is impossible to give further details.

Capt. Allen has enlarged the Princeton Banner and it comes to us in well printed and very new. Long may it wave!

Now subscribers can get the SENTINEL from now until January, 1882, for $2.

Religious.

Bro. Barnes is still building the fort at Winchester, drawing large audiences. He has had about 150 confessions.

The projected meeting at Sycamore, this county, closed with nine additions to the church. Elder Palestine Ashill, of Stanton, did the preaching.

The Winchester Democrat says there were seven additions to the Presbyterian church Sunday morning. Six of them were of the number that have confessed under the preaching of Mr. Barnes.

Preaching at the Christian and Episcopalian churches in this city every Sunday: Baptist—1st, 3rd and 4th Sundays; Catholic—1st and 3rd Sundays; Methodist—2nd and 4th Sundays; Presbyterian (Assembly)—1st and 3rd Sundays; Presbyterian (South)—2nd and 4th Sundays. Preaching at (colored) Christian and Methodist churches every Sunday.

MORGAN COUNTY.

WEST LIBERTY.

Born.—To the wife of D. J. Stamp, a daughter.

The ladies' favorite, Thos. R. Oliver, is creating a photograph gallery.

Levi Lykins, of Caney creek, died last Saturday night after a brief illness.

H. C. Turner, Maxey & Womack and Whitcomb, Kendall & Bro., are buying horses and mules.

J. P. Thornley has assumed a new role, having donned ministerial robes. He delivered his first sermon last Sunday to a large audience.

Oscar McKenzie and Judge Davis are visiting in this city every Sunday from Owensville, where they went with stock, and as usual report a dull market.

A projected meeting will be held here commencing 27th inst., in which the pastor, Rev. J. S. Walker, will be assisted by Revs. Pearce and Newton, of the Methodist church, south.

In the wall of W. M. Kendall's house, which was recently torn down, was found a chisel well preserved. The handle was marked E. V., and as Edmund Vest built the house, it is supposed to belong to him. It had been there 39 years.

The Democrats are preparing to erect a flag at the 25th inst., at which time Hon. Thos. Turner, candidate for Congress; Hon. A. E. Richards, State Senator; and Hon. J. B. Clarke, railroad, will address the people. Come out and learn something about politics and railroads.

Select Poetry.

"LAST NIGHT."

[TOMAS.]
The following lines, sent to us by a lady, are worth reading. The name of the author is not given, but they would do credit to any poet:
Last night, within the little curtained room,
When the moon shone so brightly on the floor,
And silver light came stealing through the gloom,
You told the tale that women love to hear;
You told it well, with firm hands clasped
And deep eyes glowing with a tender light—
More telling than your power was half divine
Last night.
Ay, you had much to offer—wealth enough
To gladden the future and a path of ease—
For one whose way is somewhat dark and rough—
New friends—a life as calm as summer seas,
And something (what I love) to keep me true,
And make me precious in each other's sight;
Ah, then, indeed, my heart's resolve I knew
Last night.
Let the world go with all its dross and puff,
Only for one, like Porcia, could I say,
"I would be trebled twenty times myself."
Only for one—and he is far away.
His visage back to me distinct and dear,
And thrilled me with the pain of loss;
The present fades, but the past was clear
Last night.
If others answered as I answered then,
We should have less perchance, of blighted lives;
There would be truer women, nobler men,
And fewer dreamy homes and faithless wives.
Because I could not give you all my heart,
I gave you nothing! Judge me as you think
You may thank Heaven I stood the test
Last night.

NEW ENGLAND AND KENTUCKY.

A recent trip through New York and New England increased the admiration of the energy, enterprise and thrift of the people throughout that portion of our country. If we were anxious to be popular, or were a candidate for anything, we should sing the praises of the people heard at home of the superiority of Kentucky to all the rest of the world in every respect. We love the truth, however, more than we love any man's opinion, and this compels us to say that in many respects, our own dear state is not the equal of the Yankee commonwealths that we have visited. Of course there are many things in which we excel them, but in the general elements of prosperity, and in the opportunities which give assurance of success to an enterprising spirit, we are far behind them. Nature has done for us all that we could ask. Our people are mainly true, and possess qualities which make them worthy of the highest esteem and admiration. But they are carrying weights which they must get rid of if they hope ever to occupy the position in the front to which they are entitled.
In the first place we are burdened with the spirit of old feuds. We oppose whatever is new because it was not known to our fathers. We are not willing to try all things, and hence cannot hold fast to that which is good because we never got it into possession. We were slow to build pikes because they cost money. We have been against railroads because Judge Hise did not think it constitutional to vote aid to them in the shape of county subscriptions. We have refused to ask Congress for appropriations for our rivers because, forsooth, Andy Jackson vetoed the Maysville road bill. Our water powers run to waste, our mines are undeveloped, and our forests without value because our rich men are unwilling to employ their capital in that direction, and it is beneath the dignity of people descended from old Virginia stock to encourage the location of the money seeking Yankees in our midst. We stand aloof, whilst the outside world moves on. Immigration flows to other states in one continuous stream because it is sought, encouraged and efforts are made to turn its channels in the direction that it takes. During the past year, agents for Swiss and German colonies have looked at the lands in Eastern and Southern Kentucky and have been delighted with them. They found the soil good as they wanted, were impressed with the timber and mineral prospects, were delighted with the climate and did not object to the prices, but would not locate because the state is slow, the pistol is used too freely, transportation and school facilities are insufficient and they found nobly charged with the duty of assisting or encouraging them to give Kentucky a trial. The result is that they have gone on to less favored localities, and we have lost a valuable population. Tom Hughes' colony was particular to get beyond the boundary of the state and build colonies and to carry its wealth and production power over the line to Tennessee, which with all its debt burdensome as to give rise to a reputation party is alive and full of the spirit of progress. We have seen some of our own wide-awake, useful citizens move to the same state because they believed they would have a better chance there.
In the next place, we must make labor more honorable in Kentucky. Our boys and girls are raised up too much with the idea that it is the mission of the negro to be only the laborer of the white man, the drawer of water, and that it does not become a member of the Caucasian race to soil his or her gentle hands with the ignoble stains of toil. We get this nonsense from the frill-shirted, golden-rod cane, and claw-hammer coat gentry, who talk about "Honest Sam," and whom Patrick Henry and Thomas Jefferson had to fight in their struggles for free institutions. In the East, girls of the best families and education are not above cooking and washing and house cleaning and many of them where poor do not feel at all degrading to go out for wages. The young men take hold of any honest industry and lose no social standing because they are laborers and obey the Bible injunction to earn their bread in the sweat of their brows. They do not wait for something to turn up, but take hold and give it the turn themselves. The labor system of this region has undergone a change. Slavery no longer exists, and the darkey has become a very uncertain element in our calculations about help. Even he has caught the infection and thinks that he can never be truly a freeman so long as he engages in regular work. His idea of becoming a gentleman is to be an errand, to frequent saloons, to swagger, to carry a pistol, and to roam over his neighbors lands with gun in hand in quest of some innocent rabbit, whom he is compelled to steal and becomes a vagabond, whom the industrious class in the community must finally support in the poor-house.

We need to have this whole system so changed that people who engage in manual labor may be respected and be received according to their merits, and that idleness and dissipation may be generally condemned.
The pistol does us infinite damage in Kentucky. We were in a Massachusetts town last week from which several thirty industries families had moved to join Tom Hughes' colony in Tennessee. We asked a friend living there why some of his people did not come to Kentucky.

"Why bless you," he answered, "they would as soon think of going among the Utes." You shoot too much in Kentucky. We assured him that there is as much crime in Ohio or in any of the other states as there is in Kentucky. "Well," he replied, "that may be true but the people abroad do not so understand it and besides there is certainly no more place on the face of the earth where pistols are so universally carried." We were not so sure but that he was right although we tried to discuss the matter with him and in our pride of state felt grieved to see a belief existing. Those of us who are parents are in a great degree responsible for these things. We shield our children, raise them up to be good men and women, and if they fail in these must be sure to marry rich, give them fine clothes, encourage them to turn up their noses at honest toil, teach them to respect every cross to life as an insult, make the shedding of blood honorable when done in obtaining the satisfaction of a gentleman, and turn their thoughts towards fire arms by buying toy pistols for a boy's first thing, and giving them a false sentimentality to rule them in their verdict, and public opinion does not sufficiently condemn injudicious pardons.

Kentucky has progressed in all these matters, but not sufficiently so yet to retrieve the dreadful reputation that she has throughout the length and breadth of the land. We need no guns or pistols here. There is no war and will be none in this region again. Peace reigns, and its beneficent, blessed influences ought to dominate here rather than the shotgun and the revolver, which are relics of another era now gone, never, as we hope and believe, to return. This is a democratic state in which the doctrine prevails that the people rule. Let worth be the standard and not a shabby gentility which tries to ape the style of wealth and forgets to pay its debts, and which spells the world honor with an "ah," instead of doing the things which among a Christian people should be esteemed honorable and of good repute. Kentuckians are superior to the people of New England in many points, but they certainly lack their energy, thrift, and regard for good order, and being behind in these respects, have been distanced in the race for what makes life enjoyable to the masses of mankind. Let us all strive to work a change and do it boldly and vigorously without a care for the condemnation of those who would keep us in the same rut, and wandering through the same old grooves.

Another great drawback to Kentucky is the condition of her common school system. Immigrants will not come here with all our natural advantages, so long as there are states infinitely poorer in soil and climate and resources, but where their children have a chance to receive an education. Our school fund is totally inadequate, and it is a question as to whether, in its present condition, it does not really do more harm than good. Parents ease their consciences with the free school, and make no efforts to provide other facilities for the improvement of the minds of their offspring. We believe the common school to be the most reliable guarantee of free institutions. The children of all classes are brought up together. They form friendships, become acquainted with one another's ways of thinking and feeling, and are thus the best guarantee of the future of the state. The free school prevails as it does in America. People moving from one section to another regard this as among the very first inducements to a location. This being the case, how many will stop in Kentucky? We have practically no provision for a large number of the children who are growing up in our midst. We raise money and send it to the heathen, but there are thousands at home who have no schools, know nothing of the Gospel, and do not have even the chance of a Sunday-school in which to improve their condition. Their fathers and mothers had the advantages as slaves of being raised in intelligent families, where they picked up many items of information and were trained in morality and manners. The present generation, however, is cut off from this, and grow up like weeds, to be vagabonds and criminals. It is the question of the hour in Kentucky, and he does not love his race who fails to give it thoughtful, serious consideration. If he hope to hold our own with the Yankees who now dominate the country, we must not allow this state of things to continue. They not only provide educational facilities for every class, but compel them to attend. We must have schools, railroads, improved water ways and immigrations. Then will come the new Kentucky, in which the nearest approach to happiness to be found on earth may be had, and when a prosperous people will look to no other land with envy or desire.

There is no dissension or division in our ranks but with the steady tread of veterans and unbroken ranks we are marching on to victory.—[Scorcher.]

Home and Farm.

FRIED APPLES.—Don't fry them at the pork—they will taste too porky. Just drop a little lump of butter in the spider, heat it hot, and then pour in the dish of sliced apples, add half a teaspoon of boiling water, put on the cover, and let them cook until soft, without stirring them. Give the spider a little shake, then take off the cover and let them dry until they begin to brown.

TO CAN CORN WITH TARTARIC ACID.—Can the corn from the cob and scrape to preserve the milk. Mix an ounce of tartaric acid, dissolved in a little water, with every five quarts of corn. Cook until tender in water enough to cover; then put into tin cans and seal with cement while boiling hot. To prepare for the table, drain off the water, cook it in fresh add a little sugar and a pinch of soda. Season with salt, butter, pepper and cream, and thicken slightly with corn-starch, as usual.

TO CLEAN WHITE WORSTED ARTICLES.—Lay your white worsteds in a pan, one at a time, cover them with wheat flour, then rub them thoroughly in it. After this has been well done, take them from the flour and shake them, or if it is a clean, windy day hang them on the clothes line, where they will be well cleaned, and have the light, downy appearance of new worsted. Some recommend rubbing them in Indian meal, but we do not think this is so clean and white. If white furs are laid in a large pan or basin half filled with Indian meal, and well rubbed with the meal, they will look nice as new. Use no water, or oil on the worsted articles or the furs.

TO KILL LICE ON CATTLE.—On a warm, pleasant day take a pailful of water and put in as much carbolic acid as you think will do. Saturate each animal thoroughly from the head of the nose to the end of the tail, and rub it in with a horse brush or anything that will do, until every inch of the animal is drenched to the skin; put the tail in the pail and soak it thoroughly. Then, around the horns you will usually find the most lice. Put each animal into the stable immediately, where they can not lick themselves until dry. This will not need to be repeated unless the cattle are very lousy.

Menifee County Teachers' Institute.

The Menifee County Teachers' Institute convened at the school-house in Frenchburg Monday, September 6th, 1880. F. H. Hawkins, C. S. C., opened the Institute with appropriate address, after which he introduced Prof. J. R. Thomas as conductor. During the Institute the following twenty-one teachers, out of the twenty-six of the county, were enrolled: Mrs. Mary Pierce, Misses Mary Hulce, Lucy Spears, Eva Armitage, Lizzie Fortner, Josee Sparks, Mary Fanning and Belle Smith; Messrs. J. K. Boggs, J. W. Huff, W. O. B. Ramo, Joseph Catron, James Willis, H. H. Borders, Turner Spencer, Richard Spencer, D. B. Moorefield, B. F. Peck, Wm. Hughes, J. L. Williams and R. C. Bedford.

The Institute continued three and a half days, during which time Prof. Thomas explained his methods of teaching the common school branches, devoting special time to the consideration of several particular subjects in arithmetic and grammar. On some of the subjects lively discussion arose. The exercises were interspersed with lectures, reading and questions of interest pertaining to the teacher and his profession were fully discussed. The feelings of the teachers with regard to the Institute and its officers are expressed in the following resolutions, presented by Turner Spencer, H. H. Borders, R. L. Williams, Joseph Catron, and W. O. B. Ramo, the committee on Resolutions:

Resolved, 1st. That Menifee county may justly pride herself in the possession of a Commissioner in the person of F. H. Hawkins, that we, the members of the Menifee County Teachers' Institute, return our thanks to him for the able and gentlemanly manner in which he has presided over our Institute; that we believe him eminently qualified in every respect for the office he holds; and as he is a candidate for re-election, we, as teachers, ask of the electors of Menifee county a careful consideration of his claims at their hands.

2d. That we are grateful to, and will ever hold in remembrance our instructor, Prof. J. R. Thomas, for the able manner in which he has conducted our Institute, and we heartily approve his methods of instruction, and feel that our stay here has been both pleasant and profitable.

3d. That we are under many obligations to Mr. F. W. Needham for his able and efficient lectures and assiduous labors during the Institute in trying to promote its interests and make it a success.

4th. That we are happy to find that the number of lady teachers has increased in our county, and we hope the people will abandon the idea that ladies can not teach school with success.

5th. That we tender our sincere thanks to the citizens of Frenchburg and vicinity for their kind hospitality and the interest they have manifested for our welfare, and especially to the ladies for their continual presence and constant interest in our Institute.

6th. That we tender our thanks to Prof. J. K. Boggs for his able lectures and efficient manner in which he discharged his duties as Secretary of the Institute.

7th. That owing to negligence on the part of parents, we favor a compulsory system of education.

8th. That the KENTUCKY SENTINEL, published at Lexington, be the official organ of the Institute, and that the Scorchers and the Owingville Outlook be requested to publish the proceedings of the Institute.

COURAGE.

Tired! ah frail humanity! Arise from your lethargy and respond to the call of duty, awake your dormant energies and develop the better inclinations of nature, present an unflinching front to the boisterous waves of time and ultimately triumph over dejection and despondency. Never grow weary of the nobility of life, though poorly and insufficiently compensated, think that there is a mission to be fulfilled and perform the multifarious duties of life unflinchingly. Weary of life! On brightening being, awake to the realization of existence, its demands, the pleasure and usefulness to be culled from the rugged crest of time and resolve to live while life is ours. Who has not observed the blighting influence of irresolution and this don't-care system of breathing (for it is not proper living)? How many bright lives have been obscured and rendered miserable for want of courage to fight the battle of life, and perseverance to further desires fondly cherished. Why not have that confidence in self, that personal reliance which has been characteristic in the records of so many great men and which is indispensable to success and prosperity, for without it our frail baggage must sink into the vortex of uncertainty, and perhaps non-realization. Think before you sink. Labor and be wise.
